

THE HONORABLE JOHN C. COUGHENOUR

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

ELEPHANT JUSTICE PROJECT,

Plaintiff,

v.

WOODLAND PARK ZOOLOGICAL
SOCIETY, INC. and OKLAHOMA CITY
ZOOLOGICAL TRUST,

Defendants.

CASE NO. C15-0451-JCC

ORDER DISMISSING CASE AS MOOT

This matter comes before the Court on Defendants’ motion to dismiss case as moot (Dkt. No. 57). Having thoroughly considered the parties’ briefing and the relevant record, the Court finds oral argument unnecessary and hereby GRANTS the motion for the reasons explained herein.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 24, 2015, Plaintiff Elephant Justice Project (“EJP”) sought a preliminary injunction prohibiting Defendants from transporting two Asian elephants, Chai and Bamboo, outside of Seattle. (Dkt. No. 4.) The Court denied the motion on April 7, finding that EJP failed to show that the planned transport was likely to result in irreparable injury. (Dkt. No. 28 at 10.) EJP appealed the denial on April 8. (Dkt. No. 31.) The Ninth Circuit denied EJP’s request for an emergency stay pending the outcome of the appeal. (Dkt. No. 35.) On May 11, Chai and Bamboo

1 completed their trip to the Oklahoma City Zoo. (Dkt. No. 57 at 3.) On August 11, the Ninth
 2 Circuit granted Defendants' motion to dismiss EJP's appeal as moot. (Dkt. No. 55.)

3 Defendants now move to dismiss the present case. (Dkt. No. 57.) They argue that EJP's
 4 claims for injunctive relief are moot because the transfer of Chai and Bamboo is complete. (Dkt.
 5 No. 57 at 4.) EJP responds that its complaint asserts several live violations of the ESA. (Dkt. No.
 6 58 at 2.) It further asserts that its claim is justiciable because it is capable of repetition, yet
 7 evading review. (Dkt. No. 58 at 2.)

8 II. DISCUSSION

9 A. Mootness

10 Generally, a case becomes moot when the issues presented are no longer "live" or the 11 parties lack a legally cognizable interest in the outcome. Murphy v. Hunt, 455 U.S. 478, 481
 12 (1982). "Where the activities sought to be enjoined have already occurred, and the [court] cannot 13 undo what has already been done, the action is moot." Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Bergland, 576
 14 F.2d 1377, 1379 (9th Cir. 1978).

15 Courts recognize an exception to the mootness rule when the harm is "capable of 16 repetition, yet evading review." Murphy, 455 U.S. at 482. This exception has two elements:
 17 "(1) the challenged action was in its duration too short to be fully litigated prior to its cessation 18 or expiration, and (2) there was a reasonable expectation that the same complaining party would 19 be subjected to the same action again." Id. (internal quotations omitted).

20 B. Analysis

21 EJP's complaint alleged two causes of action: "take at Woodland Park Zoo" and 22 "violations associated with imminent transport." (Dkt. No. 1 at 20-21.) Chai and Bamboo are no
 23 longer at Woodland Park Zoo; the transfer to Oklahoma City Zoo occurred over six months ago.

24 Despite this, EJP asserts that its complaint alleges live violations of the ESA. (Dkt. No.
 25 58 at 10.) As support, EJP cites to the following paragraphs:

26 32. Section 9 of the ESA makes it unlawful for any person to "possess, sell,

1 deliver, carry, transport, or ship, by any means whatsoever, any such species”
2 taken in violation of that section’s take prohibition. 16 U.S.C. § 1538(a)(1)(b), (d).

3 109. If Chai is moved to OKZ, the young endangered elephants at OKZ will be
4 at risk of contracting herpes virus.

5 115. [Regarding the second cause of action, violations associated with 6 imminent transport,] Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation set forth above.

7 (See Dkt. No. 58 at 10.) EJP argues that this was sufficient to state a claim and that its failure to 8 identify live violations under a “cause of action” heading is merely semantic. (See Dkt. No. 58 at 9 10 n.1.) But, a complaint must “give the defendant fair notice of what the claim is and the 10 grounds upon which it rests.” Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007) (internal 11 quotations omitted). EJP cannot establish the existence of a claim by cherry picking paragraphs 12 from its complaint, which is otherwise aimed at preventing the elephants’ transfer.

13 EJP also argues that its “violations associated with transport” claim is capable of 14 repetition, yet evading review. (Dkt. No. 58 at 20.) But, EJP itself calls the transfer “the final 15 move of Chai’s and Bamboo’s lives.” (Dkt. No. 1 at 1.) And, the transfer did not evade review—
16 EJP moved for a preliminary injunction, which, if granted, would have prevented the transfer
17 until the case was resolved. To the extent that EJP alleges potential harm involving other 18 elephants, those issues are not presently before this Court.

19 III. CONCLUSION

20 For the foregoing reasons, Defendants’ motion to dismiss (Dkt. No. 57) is GRANTED.
